Pursuant to a call made by Mr. L. Johnson, colored, chairman of the Lexington city republican executive committee, a convention was held at the courthouse, on Monday evening last, to nominate candidates for city offices. As Mr. Johnson's honors were so new upon him as to sit with some discomfort, Col. Mark L. DeMotte called the neeting to order and explained its object On motion of James T. Clayton, Judge Wm. Walker was called to the chair. Judge Walker stated that it had been several years since he had taken any active part in political meetings, and that he felt ome hesitancy in accepting the honor, but having been a republican from the organization of the party, he thought it his duty to let his republican friends know that he was with them; and that he could not forget that all that the country was it owed to the energy, activity and unity of the republican party. He thanked the convention for the nonor conferred upon him. On motion of Harry Turner, Cam. B. Wilson was elected secretary.

On motion of James T. Clayton, it was esolved that no speeches were to be made, except to accept or return thanks for a nomination, but in spite of that "resolve" there were several little speeches made that did not savor of acceptance of nominations, or thanks.

On motion of Col. M. L. DeMotte, it was letermined to proceed to make nominations n the following order : Mayor, register and treskurer, marshal, recorder, assessor, en gineer, attorney.

M. L. DeMotte again arose, and moved tnat James T. Clayton be nominated for city ttorney by acclamation, which was done. M. L. DeMotte again arose, and offered resolution, to the effect that it had been the object of the convention to present, as andidates for the various city offices, men standing, who would honor the positions they sought, and inviting co-operation in upport of the ticket.

Maj. Wilson said : "There is one man o he ticket that wont fill the bill." The convention then adjourned, and the boys under twenty-one who had voted untiringly without detection, feeling much reeved, lost themselves in the throng as i withdrew. While the house was crowded it will be observed that in a mass meeting in which every effort had been made, by the andidates for mayor and marshal, to bring out every friend they could muster, ther were but 167 votes cast, that being the highest number attained. It was bunglingly conducted though with no particular turnoil, and its labors will be rewarded at the polls with a signal defeat.
